TAFT PREACHES AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

President Begins Series of Official Farewells in Washington

WASHINGTON, March 2.—This was a day of farewells for President Taft. He began his last Sunday as president with a brief sermon to the congregation of All Souls Unitarian church, where he has worshipped for four years, bade adieu to the wives of members of his cabinet at a last formal dinner served at the custom established by George Washington and kept green by presidents ever since of visiting Georgetown University. In between he took up with Secretary Hill the many important matters which he wished to see settled before he turns the reins of government over to Mr. Wilson.

TRUST POWER LIES IN COMMAND OF CAPITAL

Commissioner of Corporations Submits Report on Harvester Company to President Taft

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The power of the International Harvester company, the so-called harvester trust, which the federal government is seeking to dissolve under the Sherman law, lies in its monopolistic position, its superior command of capital, including its connections with J. P. Morgan & Co., and John D. Rockefeller, and certain objectionable competitive methods, according to the Luther Conant, Jr., commissioner of corporations, in his report on the operations of the corporation, submitted to President Taft today.

WASHINGTON, BRILLIANTLY ARRAYED, READY TO EXTEND WELCOME TO WOODROW WILSON

Capital, Gay With Expectant Throngs, Awaits Arrival Today of President-Elect

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Washington tonight awaits the coming of Woodrow Wilson, next president of the United States. Simple plans to welcome him tomorrow afternoon are ready and every detail is complete for the inauguration ceremonies and the attendant military and civic demonstration Tuesday.

No president-elect ever found the capital of the nation more brilliantly arrayed or more abundant with enthusiasm than Woodrow Wilson will find it tomorrow. Flags and streamers from every staff and building will wave him welcome, and cheering thousands assembled in the spacious esplanade of the union station apartment will be driven to his hotel by the patriotism of his heart.

One of Mr. Wilson's last acts as a private citizen will be to call, with Mrs. Wilson, upon the president of the United States and Mrs. Taft. Arrangements for this were made tonight. The president-elect and Mrs. Wilson, soon after their arrival, will receive Col. Spencer S. Cosby, chief aide to the president, who will escort them to the White house in the president's automobile. President and Mrs. Taft will receive them in the blue room. All the military and naval aides to the president, in regalia of their office, will be present, but none of the cabinet will attend. The meeting, as planned, will be brief, and the president-elect and Mrs. Wilson will return to their hotel to a family dinner.

CONFESSES TO STEALING RING

MRS. BEE M'INTYRE TOOK VALUABLE RUBY Spends Intended Wedding Day in County Jail; Must Face Merchants' Charges

Instead of going to the altar yesterday, as she had planned, Mrs. Bee McIntyre was arrested in Denver at the request of the Colorado police last Thursday night, confessed to the theft of the ruby ring from Mrs. F. H. Drake, the charge upon which she was first placed in custody. Mrs. McIntyre is in the county jail, and yesterday afternoon admitted to the city detectives that she took the ring. The jewel is said to be 150 years old, and to have been brought to this country from France, was located among her effects.

PARADE OF SUFFRAGETTES WILL HAVE 5,000 IN LINE

Monster Fete and Pageant in Washington Today to Spur on Cause of Equal Rights and "Votes for Women"

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Women will have a gala day in Washington tomorrow, the fete and pageant day to spur on the cause of equal franchise. Plans for a suffrage procession have been made on a most elaborate scale and 5,000 women are expected to take part.

Prominent Women in Line.
Mrs. Richard Coke Burdett, wife of the grand marshal of the parade and Miss Lucy Milledale of New York are the first section of the parade and will carry the "worldwide movement for woman suffrage" and will be headed by Mrs. Charles Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage alliance. The second section will represent "seventy-five years' struggle for freedom or justice concerning prejudice" and will be exemplified in a series of floats to be piloted by Mrs. Hursey W. Wiley, Miss Grace Ross, Miss Katherine Hittencamp, Miss Hazel Roberts and a mounted brigade of suffrage women.

Two Big Meetings Yesterday.
Two large suffrage meetings guarded by policemen were held this afternoon at local theaters. The suffrage question was discussed by speakers, who placed upon the shoulders of the men the burden of the white slave traffic, child labor and underpaid women workers in the sweatshops and the factories of the larger cities of the country.

CHICAGO THUG ATTACKS RICH WOMAN AND ESCAPES WITH HANDBAG AND $43,000 CASH

Mrs. Mabel Mills of San Antonio, Victim of Mysterious Assault; Condition Serious

CHICAGO, March 2.—Mrs. Mabel Mills, wife of a wealthy land owner of San Antonio, Tex., knocked at a stranger's door in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, Saturday night and exclaimed she had been robbed of $43,000.

She was bleeding from a deep scalp wound, and before she could finish her story she crumpled on the door step.

Examination at a hospital showed she was suffering from concussion of the brain and is perhaps fatally wounded.

According to the police, Mrs. Mills came to Chicago from Texas less than a week ago. Shortly before noon Saturday she is supposed to have drawn $43,500 at a bank, which she deposited with a cashier at the hotel at which she was stopping.

In midafternoon she called for the money and discovered she had lost the receipt, but succeeded in getting the fortune. She went to Evanston to dine at a friend's home, carrying the $43,500 in 2 handbags, in which there was a pocketbook containing a small sum.

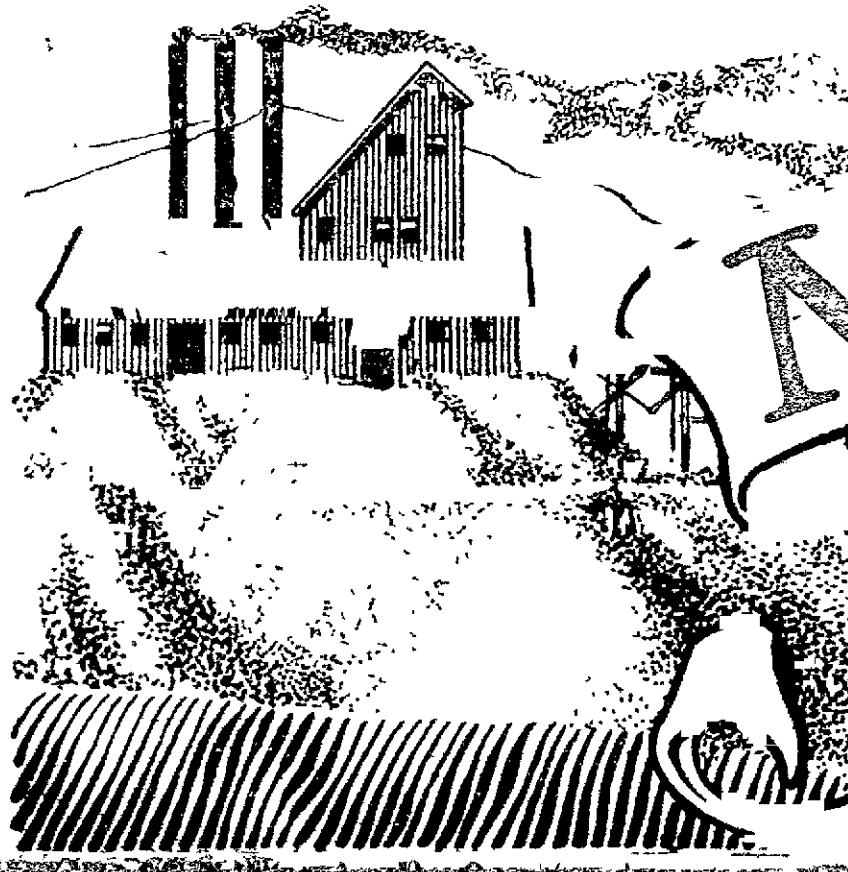

After dinner Mrs. Mills started for Chicago, and on the way discovered that the small purse was missing. She turned back to her way, and at 3:30 o'clock was seen by a policeman whom she did not seem to notice.

Her movements during the next hour are a mystery. At 1:30 o'clock she staggered into a residence and asked for aid. A physician and her friend were summoned. She revived long enough to say that she had ridden past her station on her return to Evanston and had been told by a blow struck by someone who sneaked behind her. When she recovered consciousness her money was gone.

Four blocks from where Mrs. Mills sought assistance the police found the handbag. It was lying open on the sidewalk and had been rifled. Friends of Mrs. Mills, with whom she had dined, found the missing pocketbook in the hallway of their residence, where it apparently had fallen. It contained $1,350.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 2.—Mrs. Mabel Mills, victim in Chicago of an apparent assault and robbery, is the wife of E. W. Mills, a widely known real estate dealer of San Antonio. She, too, is in the real estate business. Before her marriage, two years ago, she was Mrs. Mabel Luter, and was accounted one of the most successful real estate brokers of Texas.

Mills tonight only had word that his wife had been slightly injured and was in a Chicago hospital. He knew nothing of the $43,000 robbery and could not account for that sum of money being in his wife's possession, although he supposed it represented the proceeds of one of her own real estate transactions.

GANITE ESTATE SHIPS 65 CARS DURING FEBRUARY

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 1.—In February there were shipped from the Granite estate 65 cars of which left the company's workings on the eleventh day. There were two machines being worked on development, crosscutting north to open the main vein which has been stopped out above the tenth level. This vein has produced over $2,000,000. This was first discovered in the upper Granite workings and it was there that it made the largest amount for the owners of that ground and made it possible for the Granite to take over the Gold Coin.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 1.—Except for the strength of the copper group in which gains ran to over two points, the movement of stocks today was insignificant. There was some selling early in the forenoon, but it was a result of the government's suit against Corn Products, news of which reached the street at the same time in advance of the actual filing of the suit and the recommendations of the Pujol money trust committee.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, March 1.—Abundance of moisture, good snow cover and mild temperatures gave wheat prices today a tendency to fall. The market closed weak, 34 1/2¢ to 1 1/4¢ under last night's close. Corn and oats a drop of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ and a setback of 2 1/2¢ to 10¢.

IRON AND STEEL

NEW YORK, March 1.—The movement of iron and steel during the week was the early demand for agricultural machinery for steel and for other products to cover requirements to July, 1914.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, March 1.—The fall in stocks this week to a new level, and the speculative sentiment still undecided as to the significance of the halt in the accumulation of short sales created a demand which was given first importance as an explanation of the rally. Reports indicated some investment demand in this connection the fall in a number of dividend-paying stocks to a 6 per cent income basis, or to a parity with the price basis at which Southern Pacific is underwritten, seemed to result in lessening pressure of liquidation. This symptom points to the Southern Pacific syndicate undertaking as one source of the market burdens.

BANK STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The national resources and liabilities of the national banks on February 4 were $11,185,598,266. The condition of loans and deposits on February 4, as compared with November 26 last, was as follows in the various geographical divisions of the country:

U. S. TREASURY REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The condition of the United States treasury at the beginning of business today was: Working balance, $75,355,186 in banks and Philippine treasury $43,873,712; total of general fund, $119,228,898; receipts yesterday $2,420,968; disbursements, $5,872,368.

CONGRESS, SHORT OF TIME, HOLDS SUNDAY SESSIONS

Many Matters Rushed Through in Presence of Inauguration Crowds; Legislators Take Recess at Midnight

WASHINGTON, March 2.—With both the senate and the house in the unusual situation of sitting in the legislative session of Sunday the Sixty-second congress today and tonight ragged its weary way through a maze of tangled business toward its conclusion that will come at noon Tuesday.

Thousands of visitors in Washington for the inauguration took advantage of the Sunday night session to see the lawmakers at work.

Thronged of spectators crowded the galleries of the house, where a meager attendance on the floor ground out the routine and rushed through minor bills with little consideration. Other thousands filled the senate galleries until an executive session drove them from the chamber.

The end of the session rush of business had brought many who were interested in various bills which they hoped might be slipped through in the rather disorderly procedure. In the house, Speaker Champ Clark battered the sounding board of his desk with his gavel in his efforts to control the noisy attendance on the floor and the galleries.

No Agreement on Battleships.

The two-battleship program was threatened with defeat late tonight, when the house and senate conferees

TAFT PREACHES AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

President Begins Series of Official Farewells in Washington

WASHINGTON, March 2.—This was a day of farewells for President Taft. He began his last Sunday as president with a brief sermon to the congregation of All Souls Unitarian church, where he has worshipped for four years, bade adieu to the wives of members of his cabinet at a last formal dinner.

He served the custom established for George Washington and kept green presidents ever since, of visiting Georgetown university. In between times he took up with Secretary Hilges many important matters which he wished to see settled before he turns the reins of government over to Mr. Wilson.

Tomorrow he will meet the cabinet in a special session and probably say good-by to a few close friends and the employees about the executive offices and the White house.

The president's sermon today was devoted largely to a discussion of the Unitarian faith which he said he expected to see absorb the world.

"It has always been a wonder to me why all the world is not Unitarian," said the president. "I think all the world is verging in that direction. We preach the doctrine of sweet fellowship, of love of God, of love of Jesus Christ and of tolerance, for every faith depends upon the great principle of liberal Christianity—and that makes for progress toward morality and higher religion. The one trouble we suffer from—if it be a trouble—is that there are so many Unitarians in other churches who do not sit in the pews of our church. But that means that ultimately they are coming to us."

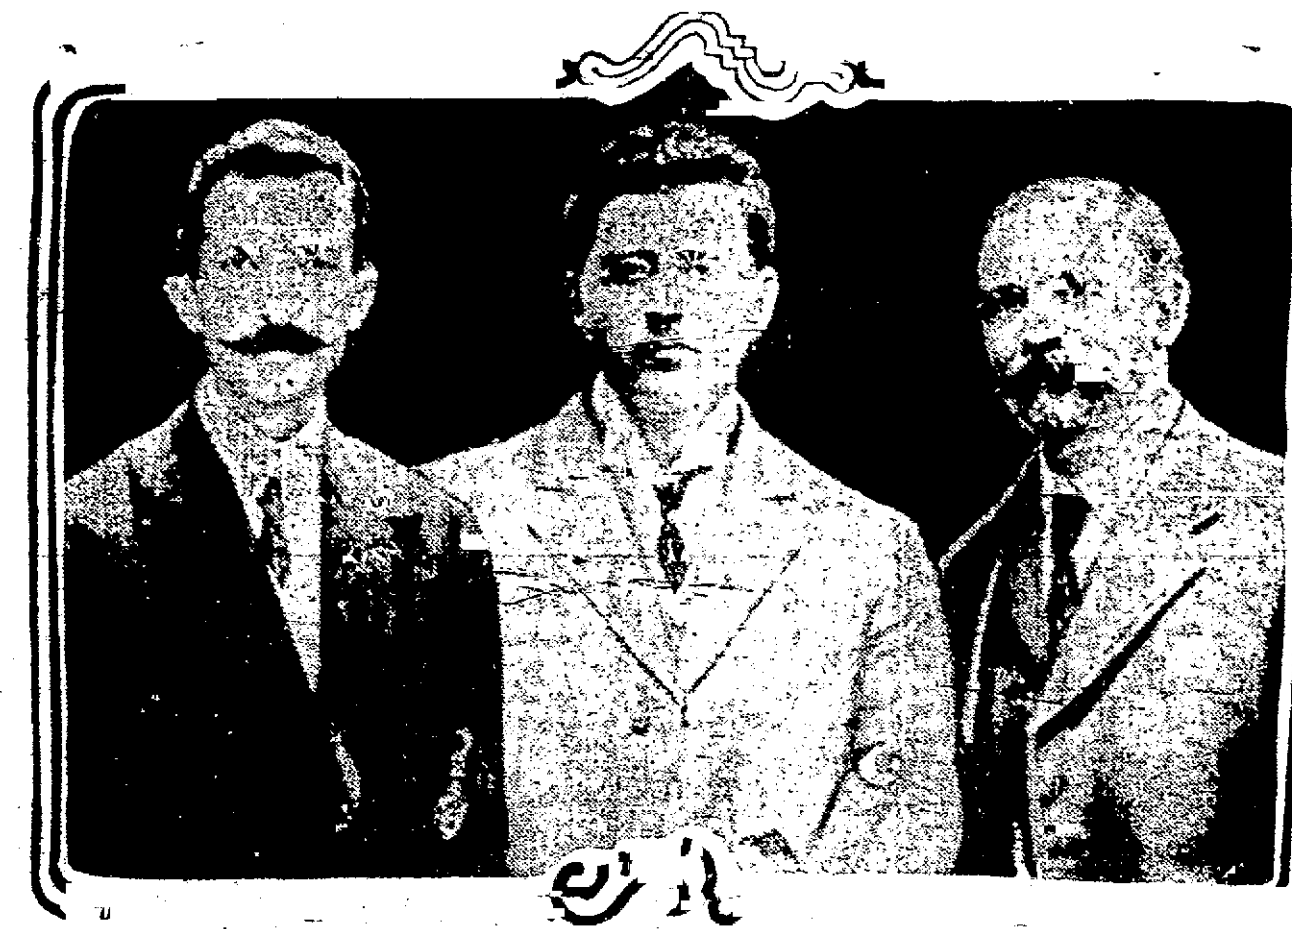

TRUST POWER LIES IN COMMAND OF CAPITAL

Commissioner of Corporations Submits Report on Harvester Company to President Taft

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The power of the International Harvester company, the so-called harvester trust, which the federal government is seeking to dissolve under the Sherman law, lies in its monopolistic position; its superior command of capital, including its connections with J. P. Morgan & Co. and John D. Rockefeller, and certain objectionable competitive methods, according to the Luther Conant, Jr., commissioner of corporations, in his report on the operations of the corporation, submitted to President Taft today.

The chief features of the International Harvester company's operations, Mr. Conant says, "are the substantial maintenance of its monopolistic position in the harvesting machine business, originally acquired through combination, and its extension into large scale into new lines of the farm machinery industry. The company has been able to do this in part through the acquisition of some of its chief rivals in the harvesting machine business; in part by using the monopolistic advantage in these harvesting machine lines to force the sale of its new lines; in part by certain objectionable competitive methods; and especially through its exceptional command of capital, itself the result of combination."

CONFESSES TO STEALING RING

MRS. BEE M'INTYRE TOOK VALUABLE RUBY

Spends Intended Wedding Day in County Jail; Must Face Merchants' Charges

Instead of going to the altar yesterday, as she had planned, Mrs. Bee McIntyre, arrested in Denver at the request of the Colorado Springs police last Thursday night, confessed to the theft of the ruby ring from Mrs. F. H. Duke, the charge upon which she was first placed in custody.

Mrs. McIntyre is in the county jail, and yesterday afternoon admitted to the city detectives that she took the ring. The jewel is said to be 160 years old, and to have been brought to this country from France, was located among her effects.

According to reports from Denver, Mrs. McIntyre was to have been married yesterday in Denver to A. I. Davis, a young clerk from San Antonio, Tex. While Mrs. McIntyre was being held in the Denver city jail, Davis called to see her and broke the engagement. The engagement ring was handed back through the bars and the romance was ended.

Mrs. McIntyre will face two charges of obtaining goods under false pretenses from local merchants. It has not been determined whether she will be prosecuted for stealing the ring.

CHICAGO THUG ATTACKS RICH WOMAN AND ESCAPES WITH HANDBAG AND $43,000 CASH

Mrs. Mabel Mills of San Antonio, Victim of Mysterious Assault; Condition Serious

CHICAGO, March 2.—Mrs. Mabel Mills, wife of a wealthy land owner of San Antonio, Tex., knocked at a stranger's door in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, Saturday night and exclaimed she had been robbed of $43,500.

She was bleeding from a deep scalp wound, and before she could finish her story she crumpled on the floor step.

Examination at a hospital showed she was suffering from concussion of the brain and is perhaps fatally wounded.

According to the police, Mrs. Mills came to Chicago from Texas less than a week ago. Shortly before noon Saturday she is supposed to have drawn $43,500 at a bank, which she deposited with a cashier at the hotel at which she was stopping.

In mid-afternoon she called for the money and discovered she had lost the receipt, but succeeded in getting the money. She went to Evanston, to dine at a friend's home, carrying the $43,500 in a handbag, in which there was a pocketbook containing a small sum.

After dinner Mrs. Mills started for Chicago, and on the way discovered that the small purse was missing. She turned back, lost her way, and at 9:30 o'clock was seen by a policeman whom she did not seem to notice.

Her movements during the next hour are a mystery. At 1:30 o'clock

The Young Turk leaders are nervous, and the government has been increased by two ministers. The students at the ports have been strengthened and other measures have been taken to enable the government to suppress any attempted coup.

Many officers have been dismissed from the army for meddling in politics. Thirteen officers, delegated by the army at Thessalonika to make representations to the government were arrested today on their arrival at Constantinople.

NO MORE BODIES FOUND IN DEWEY HOTEL RUINS

OMAHA, March 2.—Men working in the ruins of the Dewey hotel, destroyed by fire last Friday, failed to unearth any more bodies today, and the total still is three dead with a score, more or less seriously injured. WILSON AND FAMILY PREPARE FOR TRIP

Journey to Washington Will Be Under Direction of Princeton Students

PRINCETON, N. J., March 2.—With but one day remaining before his inauguration as chief magistrate of the nation, President-elect Woodrow Wilson prepared tonight for his trip to the national capital tomorrow. It was his last night at his home in the historic little town where he has lived for 27 years. After a busy day of farewells, Mr. Wilson and his family were ready for their departure at 11 a. m. tomorrow for Washington.

Symbolic of his long association with Princeton university, the trip to Washington will be distinctly a Princeton affair. The president-elect and his family will be the guests of the students, who have engaged a special train for the trip. The students were so delighted that their former president accepted the invitation for the journey to the White house that they arranged every detail with the most minute attention.

Promptly at 10:45 a committee of students will call at the Wilson bungalow with three automobiles. At the station the entire student body of the university will gather to say farewell and cheer.

May Put Him Through Window.

"I wonder if they'll put me through the car window," mused Mr. Wilson when he heard of the program. It is a Princeton tradition that when a student leaves Princeton with his diploma, his classmates gather at the station, put his suitcases through the car windows and hoist him upward and through the window, too, singing a song composed as the ceremony proceeds. It is usually one of the most striking scenes of commencement week.

There is little likelihood that this farewell which Woodrow Wilson received as a graduate of the class of 1876 will be repeated.

About 500 students will be aboard the train, but the remainder will go on later sections. The president-elect and his family were busy packing most of the day. The little Wilson bungalow was practically dismantled by tonight, everything being packed away in nearly two score trunks.

For the first time in many weeks, the Wilson family circle was complete at supper tonight. Miss Margaret Wilson, the eldest daughter, has been spending most of her time in New York studying music. Miss Jessie, the second daughter, has been actively interested in U. S. C. A. and settlement work. While Miss Eleanor has been studying painting in Philadelphia. All the young women will continue their respective pursuits, but will live at the White house constantly.

Ten in Presidential Party. The presidential party will consist of the president-elect, his wife and their three daughters; Prof. Stockton Axson, a brother of Mrs. Wilson; Fitzwilliam McMillan, Woodrow's brother-in-law; and Misses Woodrow and Miss Hazel, Woodrow's daughters.

Government Will Begin Coal Land Probe Today

CHICAGO, March 2.—The trial of Albert C. Frow and five other defendants on charges of conspiracy to defraud the United States out of $10,000,000 worth of Alaska coal lands, is scheduled to begin here tomorrow before Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis.

The prosecution is regarded as one of the most important brought in the federal courts by the government. Frow and his confederates, it is charged, conspired to obtain control of valuable coal properties by means of dummy entanglements. Frow, at the time was president of the Alaska Central Railway company. He was also president of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railway company. The other defendants are George M. Seward, Chicago, former vice-president of the same company; Pierre G. Beach, of Chicago, former secretary of Frow's companies; George A. Hall of Miami, Ind.; Duncan M. Stewart, Seward, Alaska, and Frank Watson, Spokane, Wash.

The indictments were returned in 1911. Motions to quash and various pleas in abatement have been overruled by Judge Landis.

Milk prices in Buffalo are to be investigated.

Here's What Wilson Women Folk Expect to Wear Tomorrow

PRINCETON, N. J., March 2.—Inquiries as to what the Wilson women folk would wear throughout the inauguration ceremonies have been pouring in from society editors for many weeks, but Mrs. Woodrow Wilson finally made known tonight for the first time just how she and her daughters would be attired. They will wear ordinary walking suits, Mrs. Wilson said, for the ceremonies of the day.

"They were especially made for the inauguration, but really require no description," said Mrs. Wilson. Though there is to be no particular function to correspond with the inaugural ball, now abandoned, Mrs. Wilson will wear at the first evening function at the White house a gown of broad, rose pattern, the predominant color being light green. It is low in the neck and has a long train. There is a drape of lace at the neck and down the front of the skirt, with a suggestion of lace down the back. Applique headwork and some butterfly fillets in shades of green and rose adorn the neck. Similar butterflies are on the upper sleeves.

"It is a simple gown," said Mrs. Wilson, "and graceful without being elaborate."

GARRISON LAUGHS AT SECRETARY OF WAR JOB

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—Justice Garrison laughed amused tonight when informed that his home in Merchantville, N. J., that he was being discussed in Washington as a possible secretary of war.

"Nothing could be further remote," he remarked. The justice declared it was the first time he had heard the suggestion, and added: "It probably will be the last."

We urge state and national construction of post roads and the construction of a national Lincoln memorial highway, connecting Washington with the capitals of every state in the union."

THINK FORMER SPRINGS MAN VICTIM OF MURDER

Special to The Gazette.

WEBSTER, Mass., March 2.—With a big wound inflicted in his skull, Michael Prout, 38 years old, formerly of Colorado Springs, was found dead early today near the entrance to the "Red" house, 1 Main street. Prout's body was found by hotel guests at 1:30 o'clock, and he had probably been dead about six hours. The case baffled the police, who will investigate the cause of his death.

The story that Prout had been murdered was associated with the American Woolen company and formerly lived in Colorado Springs, Denver and St. Louis. He came to Webster two years ago and married. He lived at 13 South Main street, one mile from the hotel. He leaves his wife, two brothers, John Prout, a Webster liquor dealer, and William Prout of Springfield, and one sister, Emily, of Springfield.

Tveitmo and Clancy Released Under Bond

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 2.—Clancy, A. Tveitmo and Eugene A. Clancy, both of San Francisco, two of the labor leaders convicted at Indianapolis last December upon charges by the government of conspiring in the illegal transportation of explosives, were released upon bonds from the federal prison here late today.

The order of the court for the release of the men was brought here by Edward Nogels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and at 5:30 o'clock Tveitmo and Clancy were free. At 6:30 o'clock the two, in company with Nogels, left for Chicago. Tveitmo, who is secretary of the California Building Trades council said that after two weeks in Chicago he and Clancy would return to California.

"I have no regrets for the past and no fears for the future," he said, "and I am going back to devote myself to helping vindicate labor of these charges."

He said that all of the men imprisoned with him were treated well at the prison.

"In fact," he said, with a smile, "the persecution seemed to end when we entered the prison doors."

He said that neither he nor Clancy would attend the Indianapolis convention. Clancy formerly was vice president of the Iron Workers international organization. With the release of the two today, 16 of the convicted labor leaders are out on bonds and 16 remain in the Leavenworth prison. This does not include Herbert S. Hocking, who did not make application with the others for the writ of superseades.

It is a Princeton tradition that when a student leaves Princeton with his diploma, his classmates gather at the station, put his suitcases through the car windows and hoist him upward and through the window, too, singing a time-honored song as the ceremony proceeds. It is usually one of the most striking scenes of commencement week. There is little likelihood that this farewell which Woodrow Wilson received as a graduate of the class of 1879 will be repeated.

About 500 students will be aboard the train, but the remainder will go on later sections. The president-elect and his family were busy packing most of the day. The little Wilson bungalow was practically dismantled by tonight, everything being packed away in nearly two score trunks.

For the first time in many weeks, the Wilson family circle was complete at supper tonight. Miss Margaret Wilson, the eldest daughter, has been spending most of her time in New York studying music. Miss Jessie, the second daughter, has been actively interested in Y. W. C. A. and settlement work, while Miss Eleanor has been studying painting in Philadelphia. All the young women will continue their respective pursuits, but will live at the White house constantly.

Ten in Presidential Party.

The presidential party will consist of the president-elect, his wife and their three daughters: Prof. Stockton Axson, a brother of Mrs. Wilson; Fitzwilliam McMillan, Woodrow and Mrs. Hazel Bones, both cousins of Mr. Wilson; At West Philadelphia, Mrs. Annie Howe, a sister of the president-elect, will join the party, escorted by Col. Thomas H. Birch, provisional aide to Mr. Wilson during his term as governor, and now aide to Major General Wood for the inaugural parade.

Government Will Begin Coal Land Probe Today

CHICAGO, March 2.—The trial of Albert C. Frost and five other defendants, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the United States out of $10,000,000 worth of Alaska coal lands, is scheduled to begin here tomorrow before Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis.

The prosecution is regarded as one of the most important brought in the federal courts by the government. Frost and his confederates, it is charged, conspired to obtain control of valuable coal properties by means of dummy enticement. Frost, at the time, was president of the Alaska Central Railway company. He was also president of the defunct Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railway company. The other defendants are George M. Seward of Chicago, former vice president of the same company; Pierre G. Beach of Chicago, former secretary of Frost's companies; George A. Ball of Munich, Ind.; Duncan M. Stewart, Seward, Alaska, and Frank Watson, Spokane, Wash.

Here's What Wilson Women Folk Expect to Wear Tomorrow

PRINCETON, N. J., March 2.—Inquiries as to what the Wilson women folk would wear throughout the inauguration ceremonies have been pouring in from society editors for many weeks, but Mrs. Woodrow Wilson finally made known tonight for the first time just how she and her daughters would be attired. They will wear ordinary walking suits, Mrs. Wilson said, for the ceremonies of the day.

"They were especially made for the inauguration, but really require no description," said Mrs. Wilson. Though there is to be no particular function to correspond with the inaugural ball, now abandoned, Mrs. Wilson will wear at the first evening function at the White house a gown of broad, rose pattern, the predominant color being light green. It is low in the neck and has a long train. There is a drape of lace at the neck and down the front of the skirt, with a suggestion of lace down the back. Applique beadwork and some butterflies in shades of green and rose adorn the neck. Similar butterflies are on the upper sleeves.

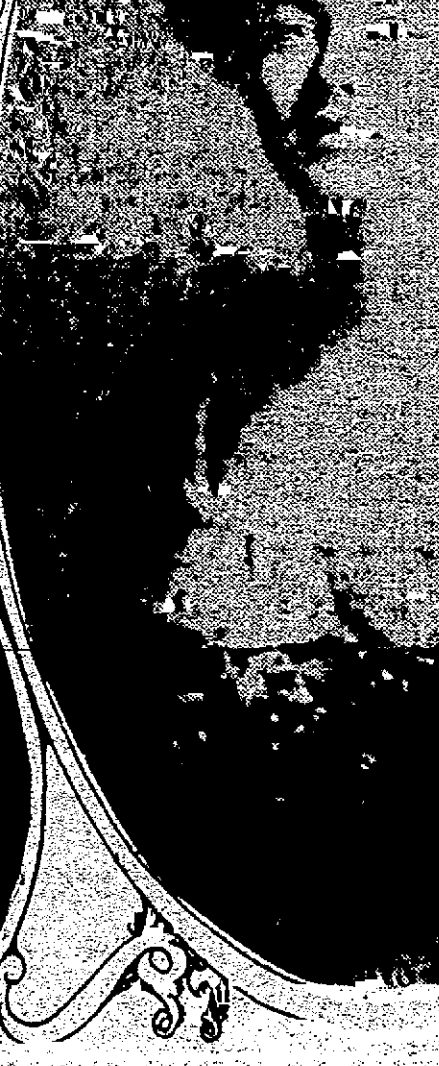

"It is a simple gown," said Mrs. Wilson, "and graceful without being elaborate."

GARRISON LAUGHS AT SECRETARY OF WAR JOB

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—Justice Garrison appeared amused tonight when informed at his home in Merchantville, N. J., that he was being discussed in Washington as a possible secretary of war.

"Nothing could be further remote," he remarked. The justice declared it was the first time he had heard the suggestion, and added: "It probably will be the last."

Good Roads Congress Declares in Favor of Convict Road Building

CHICAGO, March 2.—The fifth International Good Roads congress closed here today after adopting resolutions urging the employment of convicts on public highways at a commutation of 30 days of their sentences for every 30 days of labor. The resolution reads:

"We urge the adoption by every state of the convict labor system of Colorado, giving all available convicts the privilege of working on the public highways with a commutation of 10 days for every 30 days' work. We urge state and national construction of post roads and the construction of a national Lincoln memorial highway, connecting Washington with the capitals of every state in the union."

The next International Good Roads congress will meet in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915.

THINK FORMER SPRINGS MAN VICTIM OF MURDER

Special to The Gazette. WEBSTER, Mass., March 2.—With a big wound inflicted in his skull, Michael Prout, 38 years old, formerly of Colorado Springs, was found dead early today near the entrance to the "I'll Try" house, 1 Main street. Prout's body was found by hotel guests at 7:30 o'clock, and he had probably been dead about six hours. The case baffled the police, who will investigate the cause of his death.

The story that Prout had been murdered was not confirmed by Chief of Police Maurice P. Clare. Prout had been associated with the American Woolen company and formerly lived in Colorado Springs, Detroit and St. Louis. He came to Webster two years ago and married. He lived at 13 South Main street, one mile from the hotel. He leaves his wife, two brothers, John Prout, a Webster liquor dealer, and William Prout of Springfield, and one sister, Emily, of Springfield.

Tveitmo and Clancy Released Under Bond

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 2.—Oat A. Tveitmo and Eugene A. Clancy, both of San Francisco, two of the labor leaders convicted at Indianapolis last December upon charges by the government of conspiracy in the illegal transportation of explosives, were released upon bonds from the federal prison here late today.

The order of the court for the release of the men was brought here by Edward Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and at 6:30 o'clock Tveitmo and Clancy were free. At 6:30 o'clock the two, in company with Nockels, left for Chicago.

Tveitmo, who is secretary of the California Buffalo Trades council, said that after 12 weeks in Chicago he and Clancy would return to California.

"I have no regrets for the past and no fears for the future," he said, "and I am going back to devote myself to helping vindicate labor of these charges."

He said that all of the men imprisoned with him were treated well at the prison.

"In fact," he said, "with a smile, the prosecution seemed to end when we entered the prison doors."

He said that neither he nor Clancy would attend the Indianapolis convention. Clancy formerly was vice president of the Iron Workers international organization. With the release of the two today, 16 of the convicted labor leaders are out on bonds and 16 remain in the Leavenworth prison. This does not include Herbert S. Hocken, who did not make application with the others for the writ of supersedeas.

THE SUPREME COURT AND THE I. & R.

THE INITIATIVE and referendum, as an effective means of enacting good laws or killing bad ones, is a thing of the past in Colorado. This is the real meaning of the opinion handed down by the State Supreme Court last Friday with reference to the power of the Legislature to tamper with initiated and referred measures.

The blame for this condition appears to be partly on the Supreme Court and partly on whoever drafted the initiative and referendum amendment. At the election last fall two miner's eight-hour laws were adopted by popular vote, one of which had been referred by the Legislature, while the other was initiated by petition.

The provisions of these laws are inconsistent, so the Legislature recently passed a resolution asking the Supreme Court whether it has the power to enact a new law on the subject and repeal those adopted by popular vote, and at the same time to place the proposed measure beyond reach of the referendum by adding a clause declaring it to be necessary for the preservation of the public health and safety.

The initiative and referendum amendment declares that the referendum shall not apply to measures which are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace or safety. The object of this provision is plain, but the Supreme Court has given it an extremely broad interpretation by declaring that the Legislature has the power to declare when such a condition exists, and by making its decision final.

Hence, all the Legislature need do to prevent any bill being referred to the people is to attach a clause declaring it to be necessary to the preservation of the public health and safety. If it were possible for opponents of this view to appeal to a court for a decision as to whether such an emergency really existed, the ruling would be less arbitrary. But under the Supreme Court's opinion the decision rests wholly with the Legislature, and thus the referendum is made a dead letter.

Furthermore, the Supreme Court holds that the General Assembly may repeal any law that has been passed by the people, whether initiated or referred. This is based on a clause of the amendment which declares: "This section shall not be construed to deprive the General Assembly of the right to enact any measure." It is hardly possible that the authors of the amendment had any such idea in mind as is assumed by the Supreme Court. They wanted to give the people the power to enact laws without at the same time impairing the legislative function of the General Assembly.

But under the Court's interpretation it will make no difference what laws the people pass under the initiative. If the Legislature doesn't like them it has only to repeal them and enact its own laws with the "emergency" joker attached, thereby placing them beyond the people's power to amend or repeal.

This turn of affairs will be received with intense disappointment by all advocates of the initiative and referendum. The incapacity and generally misrepresentative character of our General Assemblies fully justified the popular belief in the necessity of the reform measures. To have it invalidated by a Supreme Court opinion virtually leaves the matter where it was before the amendment was passed, and the people are no better protected from legislative abuses than they were then. Their will is still ineffective against that of the legislature which they create.

THE WEBB BILL

IT IS said that President Taft has vetoed more acts of Congress than any of his predecessors, the total numbering twenty-eight.

On Saturday he refused to sign the Webb bill through fear that it is unconstitutional, but the Senate re-passed it by a vote of 62 to 21, and the House promptly followed suit by the even more decisive vote of 244 to 95. This is said to be the second time in fifteen years that Congress has overridden a President's veto, although another exception was narrowly averted a few days ago in the case of the Immigration bill.

The Webb bill forbids the transportation of alcoholic liquors into dry states. Its advocates claim that it is not a prohibition measure but that it is intended merely to give to each state the support due it from the Federal government in attempting to enforce its own laws. The President and Attorney General Wickersham hold that the measure is unconstitutional in that it gives to the states a degree of control of interstate commerce, which authority properly belongs only to Congress.

If the measure is upheld by the Supreme Court, into which it doubtless will soon find its way, it will strongly reinforce the prohibition laws of the dry states. One of the important reasons for the admitted failure of state-wide prohibition is the ease with which anybody can have liquor shipped to him from wet territory. With this difficulty eliminated the problem of state-wide prohibition would be simplified even though it would not be solved.

When the sinking Titanic sent out its call for help a half dozen or more steamers were within hailing distance, some of them much nearer the ill-fated vessel than the Carpathia. But Captain Rostron alone had the courage and decision to act quickly. Driving his ship at full speed through the ice floes he reached the Titanic in time to save hundreds of lives. For this he has been honored both in his own country and America. The British government presented him a gold medal, and now he has received the official medal of honor which, on rare occasions in our history has been voted by Congress in recognition of an achievement involving notable courage.

ROSTRON'S REWARD

We wonder what the captains of the other ships, those who were too busy to go to the Titanic's rescue, think about it.

SHALL PLATTE AVENUE BE IMPROVED?

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 In your paper this morning there is an article headed: "Propose Improvements of Platte Avenue at Cost Approximately $50,000." Is it wise to impose further burden upon the taxpayers at a time when they are taxed to the limit, when the price of property is the lowest it has been in years, when there are more empty houses and at lower rents than ever were heard of in our beautiful city? Every citizen is ambitious for the attractive appearance of the town, but we should never go beyond our means in civic affairs any more than in individual affairs. The taxpayers have very little say in regard to the improvement of our streets. A petition signed by every property owner from Vermijo street to Huerfano was presented to the proper authorities urging against parking the block on South Nevada avenue opposite the court house, has no attention nor consideration was given the owners of property and the parking was put in regardless of all protest against it. Is it fair?

In some instances the aim of beautifying our streets has failed to achieve. Chuchas street is the laughing stock of the town and the object of ridicule of every tourist. The sidewalks are wider than the streets, and the effect of the whole presents a most absurd appearance. Let us call a halt on the expenditure of money until such a time as the taxpayer can at least receive enough from his property insurance, the high rate of taxation, etc. As it is these improvements urged by the city government and good roads association amount to confiscation, as the property owners in many instances cannot meet the demand. Let the property owners of Austins Bluffs, who would be financially benefited by Platte avenue parking, stand the expense if they advocate it so strongly. In the matter of street lighting, the poles are not together too close for beauty of effect. Would it not have been far better to have put up one-half the light poles now in position and then be able to afford to have them lit every night than the double number of poles with two of the five lights in operation, advertising to the world our bankruptcy?

Let us use sane business judgment in the administration of civic affairs. TAXPAYER.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS FOR NEGROES.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 Please publish the enclosed copy of a letter to the secretary of the Men's Sunday Forum of Colorado Springs. E. L. BLACKSHEAR.
 Principal Prairie View State Normal and Industrial College.
 Prairie View, Tex., Feb. 25.

"Mr. E. G. Rollins, Secretary Men's Sunday Forum, Colorado Springs, Colo.

"Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your valued letter of February 9 containing clipping from the Colorado Springs Gazette in which resolutions are published against proposed amendment to state constitution segregating the schools for white and negroes. You also referred to the fact that an article of mine appeared in your local daily paper, the Colorado Springs Gazette, said to have been written by me in favor of separate schools for white and colored children in the state of Colorado. While I have not seen the article referred to, it is true that I did write an article to a gentleman in Colorado in which I gave the arguments in favor of separate schools for colored people. Of course, I am not acquainted with conditions in Colorado respecting the distribution of the negro population over the state, but it seems to me that the arguments which I used in the article referred to, which I presume is an article written by me, would apply at least in the large cities where there are sufficient numbers of colored people to constitute a sufficient body out of which separate schools could be created. You are probably acquainted with the fact that even in a number of the cities in the north there are separate schools in successful and satisfactory operation for colored children. This is true in such cities as Indianapolis, Ind., Cincinnati, O., and New York city. And I have never learned that these separate negro schools located in northern cities have had any harmful effect whatever upon the condition and general prospects of the colored people resident therein. I think your fears of the terrible results to ensue from the adoption of separate systems for colored children are in a large measure without foundation, and I believe further that when such system is put in practical operation it will be more satisfactory to the colored people themselves than a system of mixed schools in which colored people as teachers are not permitted to take any part. Your very respectfully,
 E. L. BLACKSHEAR.

"P. S.—It seems to me that the proposed amendment which is before your legislature, proposing to segregate colored and white schools might be so arranged as to apply only to those centers of population having an adequate number of colored children sufficient to constitute a working body of school children."

Trial Marriage

By RUTH CAMERON.

"And further, she declared it her belief that when a man had found his true mate, such a union would be for life. It could not be otherwise. And the man holding his mate by the excellence that was in him instead of by the aid of the law would be placed lover-like on his good behavior, and be a stronger and manlier being."—Elbert Hubbard on Mary Wollstonecraft.

If your marriage were a trial marriage and tomorrow the day to decide whether to make it permanent or not, would you marry your husband or wife again? Isn't that a thought provoking question? And here's another quite as worth thinking about—Would your husband or wife marry you over again?

Of course, because of the third party to every marriage, the little unborn soul that may find its chance of existence through this union, trial marriage is out of the question. But I fancy that if they were practical, there'd be a great deal more self-control and thought for others and appreciation in our homes and somewhat less discontent and chafing in our hearts than we now have.

Only I suppose to make the idea worth anything, the trial part of the marriage could not be over at the end of a year as is usually proposed. To keep the atmosphere right, we'd have to make the union like a perpetual trial marriage—say like the lease of a house, taken for 12 months at a time and renewable at the end of each year with the approval of both parties.

I once read an article in this number in which the author brought out the idea that if this were tried we should have a great many surprises in finding out how few couples would remarry.

Do you know, I have a kind of a notion that we'd be just as apt to be surprised the other way. When two married folks are looking forward to a life union with each other they may see each other's faults and annoying habits in the foreground, but if these same people were brought face to face with the possibility of a separation, don't you think the perspective would change in the twinkling of an eye, and the virtues and attractions that first drew them to each other come back into prominence?

It is an old story that no matter how keen our gratitude when we first receive them, we soon cease to be grateful for the blessings which we are accustomed to and feel sure of. Who knows but that a renewed appreciation of each other, as well as renewed efforts to stand well in each other's eyes, might not be the result, if there were any question about renewing the lease at the end of the year?

Yes, I know that some of my reader friends are holding up their hands in horror at the suggestion of this subject. Forgive me, my friends. I know it's totally impossible and I haven't the vaguest idea of advocating it. But all the same, I think it would be a thought provoking exercise for some married folks to consider the two questions I asked at the beginning.
 Especially the second.

Modern Inventions WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Wireless telegraphy consists of letting a current of electricity climb a high mast and then compelling it to jump across to another mast. Electricity is the greatest little jumper in the world, and electric currents are now making 1,000-mile leaps and not feeling as important about it as the man who jumps 24 feet in the Olympic games.

About 15 years ago, Marconi of Italy succeeded in persuading electricity to make its first feeble jump, and soon afterward trained it to carry and retrieve messages. This invention has proved of vast benefit to the world, and has enabled the dread bilharissae to watch the stock market in mid-ocean with relentless care.

Twenty years ago, when a ship went out to sea, it left the world behind it and had to wallow across the ocean without news on any kind. Nowadays passengers bet on the baseball score in mid-ocean and engage hotel rooms while still 300 miles east of Fire Island.

"Persuading electricity to make its first feeble jump."

If the ship breaks down, it turns loose its wireless electricity and asks everything within 500 miles to come over and help out. Wireless telegraphy saved 750 passengers from the Titanic last spring, and if there had been more wireless telegraphy mixed with a little higher grade of brains, another 1,000 might still be paying premiums on their life insurance.

Wireless telegraphy is still in its infancy, and in a few years a man will be able to whisper in his own ear via Hong Kong for a few dollars a word if he is an extravagant cuss. Wireless telephones will soon be in general use, and the man who carries a telephone set in his pocket will be able to telephone home to his wife while falling off a 78-story office building, without first calling central. But wireless politics are still in the dim and uncertain future.

A YANKEE AND A ROYAL KISS

From Tid-Bits.

But, truth to tell, kissing has always had its thorns mingled with its roses. Even a royal prince has been known to be sorry for himself after kissing "not wisely, but too well," as when the Duke of Clarence (later, our fourth William), while traveling in America, stole a kiss from the pretty wife of the barber who had shaved him.

"There, now," he said boastfully, "tell your countrywomen that the son of the King of England has given a royal kiss to a Yankee barber's wife." Scarcely had the words left his lips when the knight of the razor kicked a vicious foot and kicked him out of the door, with the remark, "There, now, go and tell your countrymen that a Yankee barber has given a royal kick to the son of the king of England!"

THE HASKIN LETTER

COOPERATIVE MARKETING
 IX—COOPERATION IN OTHER FORMS
 By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The list of activities which are susceptible to cooperative enterprise is by no means exhausted with the mention of cooperative selling and buying organizations and manufacturing enterprises. Many other forms of cooperation have been tried out either in a large or a small way, and have given satisfying results. One of the newest departures in that direction is in the use of an electric vacuum cleaner. A half-dozen housewives each felt the need of such a cleaner, but neither of them was able to own one herself. Therefore, they agreed to pool interests and buy one of the cooperative basis. They bought it, and with it bought a boy's little express wagon. Each one of the six women now has the cleaner one day in the week. It is moved from house to house by a boy, and in this way they are able to have all the comforts of the ownership of a good vacuum cleaner at the price of a very indifferent one.

It has been proposed that cooperation be applied to cooking by city housewives. Knowing that there is but little more trouble and expense attached to cooking for two families instead of one, it has been proposed that a dozen families go together, hire one good cook and the necessary helpers, and equip a community kitchen, from which the meals could be served to the supporting families at cost. Of course, no form of cooperation would be in greater danger of failing than this one. The tastes of families, however close their relationships, are bound to differ, and unless the cooperative kitchen could furnish different sorts of meals to different families, it would be almost sure to fail. And the savings of cooperative cooking would largely pass away if such a policy were pursued.

Advantages of Cooperation.

Some communities in the United States have solved many of the problems of rural life by cooperation. One may travel through the farming regions in many sections of the country and there see cooperative telephone companies successfully operating big systems. Some of these companies have thousands of shareholders. They are usually organized on the federal plan; that is, a dozen or more local companies, each made up of a membership ranging from 10 to several hundred, build their lines to some central place and there join together in the purchase and maintenance of a central exchange.

Each local company controls its own internal affairs, just as each state in the Union has control of those of its affairs which do not concern the other states. The general company lends aid to the members of all the local companies, and it bears the same relation to the local companies that the states bear to the United States. The share of the expense of each person who gets a telephone usually ranges from $10 to $25 per telephone in the building and equipping of the line. He then pays for his telephone, which costs him about $15. At this outlay he becomes an equal shareholder in the local and general companies, and his expense thereafter is about $4 for exchange service and $2 or $3 a year for maintaining the lines and keeping his telephone in order.

Hundreds of these cooperative telephone companies are scattered throughout the country, and they give surprisingly good service in consideration of its low cost. Sometimes some of the companies grow into a sort of civil war among themselves, and a local company has been known to protest that in annual switchboard service fee of $2 was too high. In most of these companies the rates are uniform for business and for residence telephones, the theory being that the business telephone renders as much service to the residence telephone as the residence telephone renders to it.

Rural Insurance Companies.

Cooperative insurance companies for protection against fire have long been operated with success in many of the rural sections of the country. They insure the property of the cooperators at two-thirds of its value, and the charges incurred are based upon the actual losses sustained. Assessments to meet these losses are made whenever they occur. The result is that the farmers get fire insurance at unusually low rates. The officers of the company are paid only nominal salaries.

Other Methods of Cooperation.
 The government itself maintains a kind of cooperative institution for the support of the old and disabled soldiers of the regular army, in the shape of the big Soldiers' home at Washington. This great institution was established from the funds derived from the sale of property captured during the Mexican war, the government deciding that it should be done as a small token of gratitude to the men of the regular army. The home is supported by revenues derived from a small assignment.

One may find cooperation of varying degrees in almost every field today. He may see it in the protective associations of retail merchants, where

Petitions Out for Branch Post-office; Plans for Other Improvements

A branch postoffice in Ivywild, and with it two deliveries of mail daily both in Broadmoor and Ivywild, the purchase of a chemical fire engine and the formation of a volunteer fire company in Broadmoor, are the projects which the Broadmoor Village Improvement society, of which Maj. Charles T. Lowndes is president and J. McK. Ferriday is secretary, is pushing actively. The petition for the establishment of the branch postoffice in Ivywild are being circulated in Broadmoor and Ivywild, and are being generally signed. They are addressed to the second assistant postmaster general.

At present there is only one delivery of mail a day in each place. This usually leaves the office in Colorado Springs about 9 o'clock in the morning, and the Broadmoor deliveries are made about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. For this reason, Broadmoor residents say that they often do not receive mail which comes in at the Colorado Springs office after 3 o'clock in the morning until the next afternoon. This would be remedied with the branch station in Ivywild and the two deliveries daily. The selection of a site for the new branch station will fall upon the government officials if the petitions are granted, and some store probably will be utilized.

More Are Lights

The improvement society also has signed a contract with the Stratton estate for the installation of 12 arc lamps in Broadmoor, and is considering the purchase of a chemical fire engine. These arc lights, which are to be 100-watt lamps, are to be scattered over Broadmoor wherever conditions demand them. Their installation probably will be completed within 30 days at the latest, and the lamps will burn from dusk till 1 o'clock in the morning. The improvement society and the Stratton estate officials have been working in cooperation in the matter.

There already are 18 fire plugs scattered over Broadmoor, and the water pressure is 100 pounds. The residents of Broadmoor have asked the city council to allow the Colorado Springs fire department to go to Broadmoor on fire calls, but it is not yet known whether this project will go through. The type of chemical engine which the Broadmoor people are planning to purchase is intended to keep the fires in check until the Colorado Springs department can reach the scene, but it also is believed that it can take care of ordinary fires in that locality. This chemical engine is to have two cylinders, capable of being used alternately, one being recharged while the other is in use. It will be kept at some central location in Broadmoor, perhaps at the Cheyenne Mountain Country club. Mr. Ferriday is getting price estimates from various points in the west, and Major Lowndes who is in the east, also is obtaining figures on the probable cost of the engine. It will be purchased and installed within the next 30 days. With the purchase of the engine, a volunteer fire company will be formed at Broadmoor.

THE CITY DIRECTORY.

To help make the next issue of the Colorado Springs City Directory the most complete issue ever published, the publishers would consider it a favor if the residents would kindly give all information to the men employed in taking names.

We want the names of all members of the family over 18 years of age, whether employed or not; all boarders, roomers, widows and students.

If the residents will bear this in mind when the name takers call, Colorado Springs will have a city directory that will be a valuable asset.

The condition of Henry Brown of the advertising department of The Gazette, who sustained a fractured skull in an automobile accident early Saturday morning, was much improved yesterday. He is conscious, and the physicians in attendance expect that he will be out within a week at the most.

NEARLY 1,000 ATTEND MUSICAL CLUB CONCERT; DECIDE FATE TOMORROW

The people of Colorado Springs want a continuation of the free Sunday afternoon concerts which have been given for the last three Sundays by the Colorado Springs Musical club orchestra. This was proved by the large audience which attended the third concert yesterday afternoon at the Princess theater. Whether or not these concerts were to continue was decided by the audience at yesterday's concert. Almost a thousand people heard the excellent program, and whether the collection taken was sufficient to continue the concerts will be decided by a committee meeting tomorrow afternoon.

The audience yesterday was the largest, most enthusiastic and most liberal one that has ever attended. The three concerts have cost the organization more than $100. In taking Sunday afternoon for these concerts the club has felt it its duty to make them of the highest type. Nothing but the best music has been considered and great care has been taken to make the numbers tuneful as well as enjoyable.

MEMORY OF CHRIST IS AID TO THE SINNER

In his morning sermon at Emmanuel Presbyterian church, yesterday, Pastor David G. Monfort took for his text II Timothy, 2:8: "Remember Jesus Christ."

Our text tells us a blessed secret in the midst of the problems and questions which we face in this life. When a lost sinner realizes his condition, as the holy spirit and the word of God do their work in showing him his sin, when God's wrath is feared and his future holds nothing but dread, then these three words are needed: "Remember Jesus Christ." He came into the world to save sinners, and to seek and to save the lost. The verse from which the text comes reads thus: "Remember Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to the gospel."

Hope in Savior.

The lost sinner's hope is in one who died for sinners and rose again. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan well says: "The death of Jesus was unexampled. For death is the death of sin. Jesus died no sin, age, infirmity, disease, accident, even the pain of the cross could not have caused his death. He lets us into the secret: 'The Son of man came to give his life a ransom for many.' (Matt. 20:28). Again: 'The death of Christ was supernatural.' And here again we have the secret of how Christ could die: 'No man taketh (my life) from me, but I lay it down myself.' (John 10:18). Once more: 'The death of the Lord was reconciling. You hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death.' (Col. 1:21-22). So the sinner needs to 'Remember Jesus Christ' and what he did on that cross of shame when he 'once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust.' (I Peter 3:18), and by that one offering forever satisfied the sin question for all who will believe on him as Savior.

But after believing when memory flashes the sinful past before the saved one, what shall he do? The member Jesus Christ, who his own self bore our sins in his own body on the tree. When he was 'once offered to bear the sins of many, (and) by that one offering forever satisfied the sin question for all who will believe on him as Savior.

Text Again Applies.

And as the saved one realizes his failure, and the truth of the experience of the past, he will find that he is present with me, then our text applies again: "Remember Jesus Christ (whose) blood cleanseth us from all sin," and also that "he is able to save them that come unto God by him, seeing he never liveth to make intercession for them." When the sense of unworthiness sweeps over the believer, then he is to remember Jesus Christ, and the blessed fact that God has accepted him. "Blessed, chosen, predestinated, accepted in the beloved."

When Satan brings in the fear of something slipping from the keeping power of the Lord, then the sinner must "Remember Jesus Christ," and that he said, "I give unto every one eternal life; and they shall never perish." (John 10:28).

When we see the unrest of nations and peace maintained by battleships and standing armies, then we must "Remember Jesus Christ," and that there will be no peace on earth until he reigns as king at Jerusalem during the coming millennium. As we see the false teaching put out by those who have "another gospel" to give other than that of the Bible, when the deity of Jesus is denied, the inspiration of the Bible denied, the necessity of atonement and the new birth denied, and when the cross of Calvary, where Jesus died, is counted an offense, what then? This "Remember Jesus Christ" did not die in vain. He really made atonement for sin. Those who accept him here will praise him in glory; but those who reject him and his precious blood will "Remember Jesus Christ" in perdition, and no opportunity to change that condition for eternity.

BAKER MUCH IMPROVED
Henry R. Baker, a nephew of the late John W. Gates, who came to Colorado Springs for his health last fall and whose condition for a time was serious, is improving rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Baker are living at 2029 North Cascade avenue, a home presented them by Mrs. John W. Gates, who has visited them here several times this winter.

DENVER PASTOR ON "THE BLUE BIRD"

At the Colorado college campus service last evening, the Rev. Agass Tanner of the First Congregational church, Denver, gave an eloquent sermon on "The Blue Bird." Starting with the saying of Jesus: "If ye know these things, do them," the speaker showed that the thought for ages has been the same as in "The Blue Bird," the search for happiness far and near, in the world, and the finding of it at home, in the performance of daily duties—the duties that we have at hand, but which we are too blind to recognize as the instruments of true happiness, until we have sought other roads to happiness and found none. The speaker said in part:

Mr. Tanner's Address.

The vehicle of truth does not matter, the stage, as well as the pulpit, can bring it to us. "The Blue Bird," because it is imaginary, because its animals talk, is despised by some to separate from life. But the story is of a struggle in human life that has gone on since the beginning of man, the struggle to find happiness, it affects humanity of all ages, the personification of the animal is not the fault of the author, but the fault of the best tools available for the purpose to show the persistent striving of man to find the truth.

Many beautiful ideas are presented to us, the thought that we really visit with the dead when we think of them; the truth that Christ taught—that death is not an incident in life is splendidly brought out in the graveyard scene, where the garden of Gethsemane and it is proclaimed: "There are no dead!" The devotion of the dog to man is not the sort of worship we should show our God, asking no reason, but faithfully and lovingly doing as we are bidden. It is not a glorious thought that in most things around us there is something of the spirit of God? That we have something within us that gives us the power to commune with nature, and become filled with the strength of God? What matter if we do not believe that material things have any life? It is a comforting thought to imagine that there is much of life in the things about us that we have considered lifeless.

Masterlink a Humanitarian.

Some people say that Masterlink is mystic. He stated as a mystic, but has now become a humanitarian. He deals with the old human struggle because he sees that man cannot love God, whom he has never seen, unless he loves man, whom he has seen. Too often we are prone to seek to commune with the infinite and neglect our simple duties of every day, by which we can find the only road to happiness and truth. "So Christ taught, so God wrote in his story of 'Faith,' Lowell, in his 'Vision of Sir Launfal,' has the same thought. Masterlink shows us the children returning home after their long journey, without the blue bird, the symbol of happiness, but in the kindness of heart, the boy hands his dove to his little crippled neighbor, the bird changes into a 'blue bird,' a blue bird which remains blue. As the bird flies away, the boy sees that his blue bird has returned to him, should anyone else? He does not understand why his dove is the blue bird. He does not yet see that the blue bird of happiness is ever present, only waiting the magic light of a simple deed to reveal it to us.

Jim Goodheart Speaks at First Presbyterian

Jim Goodheart of the Sunshine mission of Denver, made a strong talk to a large audience at the First Presbyterian church last night. His text, "What Shall the End Be of Those Who Obey Not the Gospel of God?" was taken from I Peter, 4:17. Mr. Goodheart gave a short history of his life, telling how as a young man, he was successful in business and was well on the road to wealth, when he took to drink. The habit grew on him, and it was but a comparatively short time until he found himself divested of all of his earthly wealth and in the "down-and-out" class. When he reached this stage he saw the folly of his ways and repented. Mr. Goodheart kept the undivided attention of his audience during his discourse. Twenty-two professions of faith were made at the end of the services.

FRED G. SHAFFER IS VISITOR IN SPRINGS
Fred G. Shaffer, editor of the Fremont County Leader, and well known in Colorado Springs and state newspaper circles, arrived here last night on business, and probably will return to Canon City today. Mr. Shaffer, who formerly was connected with The Gazette, later took charge and of the publicity campaign of the state Progressive party during the political campaign last fall. His literature, published broadcast throughout Colorado, was no small factor in the excellent showing made by the Progressives in this state.

WOMEN THAT MEN ADMIRE
It is true men admire a pretty face and a good figure, but sooner or later they learn that it is the healthy, happy woman that is most of all to be admired. Women who are troubled with nervousness, backache, the blues or other symptoms incident to female ill health, should not forget that Lydia E. Prin. Hill Talks Before Y.M.C.A. on "Consequences"

Principal R. C. Hill of the High school delivered the school assembly meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon, taking as his subject, "Consequences." The Temple Mass quartet had charge of the congregational singing, and also gave two selections. The attendance at the meeting was much larger than usual.

Professor Hill took the second chapter of the book of Job on which to base his address. He said in part: "A man will give everything for his life. Life is precious and man is worth while. Yet, even knowing the mistakes we have made, it would hardly be worth while to live life over again. A man living his life over again would probably be a martyr."

Any father wants his son to be better and truer than he has been, compare the story of Joseph with that of the prodigal son. Joseph was a true son, where the prodigal son was not.

Two Opposing Forces.
There are two great forces working in the world, and they are both evil and good, positive and negative, constructive and destructive. Our lives show forth according to their setting. If the surroundings and environment of a life are as they should be—if they are good—the life fits into them. If the leisure time of a young man is foolishly away it is demoralizing, but if properly employed it means much to him both then and later. The companionship of a good boy means much to other boys.

We are in the world not merely to make a living, but to make a life. The elements in life are love, energy, courage, hate, good-fellowship and good citizenship. All these go to make a man.

It is the privilege of every person to take part in the control of the public affairs of his community. He should take part in this control to make things better. It is in the power of the citizen to control the rulings of the city and the enforcement of these rulings. It is our duty to throw ourselves into citizenship.

We go through life but once, let us help our fellow-men. Let us not lose the opportunity to make the most of our lives. May we not make the future happier and better?

Just arrived, 20 new pianos. HILTBRAND'S, 125 1/2 N. Tejon.

COOPERATIVE MARKETING IX—COOPERATION IN OTHER FORMS

They blacklist the buyer who does not pay his bills; he may see it among the railroads, where they perform services for one another free or at cost; he may see it in clubdom, where club houses are maintained at cost. "CHEW UPON THIS"
Walter Pritchard Eaton in the American Magazine.

A good deal is said from time to time about an actor living his part in the course of some remarks on this subject. Mr. Eaton tells the following: "Once a great actor as Brutus in Julius Caesar, cried to a second great actor, as Cassius: 'Till then, my noble friend, chew upon this,' and pressed a plug of tobacco into his palm. Sarah Bernhardt, on a wager, once played a fearful and stirring scene in an American theater, reciting instead of the words of the play, an impromptu tirade against American hotels, and the audience all save a few who could understand the rapid-fire French were duly terrified away. It is even recorded that many women wept. Sarah was most assuredly not 'living the life' of her stage character then, yet her acting remained effective; and no one has yet denied that she knows how to act."

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

The old saying—that is home without a mother—should, add, "Mother's Friend." In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of this splendid and famous remedy that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health of mind and body, in advance of baby's coming and had a most wonderful influence in developing a healthy, lovely disposition in the child.

There is no other remedy so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes the plant, those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, acts quickly and not only banishes all the ills in advance, but secures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother. Thus she becomes a healthy woman with all her strength preserved to thoroughly enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend can be had at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle, and is really one of the greatest blessings ever discovered for pregnant mothers.
